PERDICARIS NEGOTIATIONS.

Indications That Satisfactory Progress is Not Being Made.

Secretary Hay today received a cablegram through the Navy Department and Admiral Chadwick from Consul General Gummere at Tangier relative to the Perdicaris negotiations. This indicates that the negotiations are not progressing satisfactorily and the good faith of the Moorish government is called into question by our negotiators. In response to their request for further instructions, Secretary Hay has cabled them to adhere strictly to their original instructions; to refrain from giving any guarantees or involving the United States in engagements beyond the limits of instructions; not to land marines or blue jackets without specific instructions from Washington; and, finally, to demand of the Moorish government Perdicaris alive or Raisuli dead.

IMPORTANT ARMY CHANGES.

Col. Constant Williams of the 26th Infantry will be appointed a brigadier gen-eral on the retirement of Gen. Hyde and will continue on the active list. All the officers promoted have had long and honorable careers in the army.

MR. MOODY'S SUCCESSOR.

Strong Movement in Favor of Assistant Secretary Darling. The reported disinclination of Mr. Paul Morton to accept the tender of the naval portfolio, about to be vacated by the transfer of Secretary Moody to the Department of Justice, is believed to greatly improve the chances of the promotion of Assistant Secretary Darling to the head of the naval establishment. Judge Darling is not an applicant for the office, but would undoubtedly accept the appointment-at least for the remainder of the present administration. Without the least solicitation or even knowledge on his part, a strong movement in favor of Judge Darling's appointment has been inaugurated by the labor organizations represented in the various navy yards and stations. It is said the movement had its inception in the Washington navy yard, where Assistant Secretary Darling has made himself exceedingly popular by his fair and liberal decisions on matters affecting the laboring interests. Questions of wages and hours at navy yards and stations are constantly presented to the Navy Department, and it has been the province of Judge Darling to pass upon them, and that he has performed that deli-cate service to the satisfaction of the government, as well as to the labor interests is in itself a high tribute to his ability and judgment. Furthermore, it is said that many ship builders and contractors having business with the Navy Department have vol untarily indersed the movement in favor of Mr. Darling's promotion. There is no politics in the matter and nothing could be gained in a political way by the further recognition of Vermont, the state to which Judge Darling is accredited, and that fact is said to be a serious handicap to his selection. It is expected that the matter will be settled in a day or two.

The Treasury Department has approved the decision of the collector of customs at San Francisco that ostrich feathers, even when just plucked from the bird, are "ornamental," and must pay the extra duty imposed by this classification. The result of the decision may be that ostrich plumes will be considerably higher in the future, and ostrich farms in this country will be greatly benefited by the additional pro-tection given them by the ruling.

Mr. Seager's Change.

Mr. John Seager, who has been acting private secretary to Gen. Hall of the military secretary's office, has resigned his position in the War Department to accept the position of private secretary to Chief Engineer Wallace of the Panama canal commission, and has gone with him to Panama.

The Asiatic Fleet.

Advices received from the Asiatic station show that Rear Admiral Cooper, commanner-in-thief, and Rear Admiral Stirling, the senior vice commander, are on their way to Woosung, where the latter will relieve the former of command of the Asiatic fleet. Admiral Cooper, on his flagship, the Wisconsin, and accompanied by the battle ship Oregon and the cruiser Solace, left Cavite yesterday for Woosung and Admiral Stir-ling, on his flagship, New Orleans, left Che-100 yes, erday for the same destination. As soon as relieved Admiral Cooper will come to the United States and be placed on the retired list.

Death of Lieut. McConnell.

The Navy Department has been informed of the death of First Lieut. R. G. Mc-Connell, jr., U. S. M. C., at Albuquerque, N. M., on the 17th instant. Lieut. McConnell was a native of Pennsylvania, and entered the Marine Corps in October, 1809. He was recently stationed at Norfolk.

Hospital Site Selected.

Secretary Moody has settled the longpending question over the selection of a site for the Naval Academy Hospital, at Annapolis, by adopting the recommendation made by Assistant Secretary Darling, the surgeon general of the navy and officials of the academy, in favor of locating the uilding on the government farm southeast of the county road, fronting on the Severn river. The site selected is between Ceme-tery Point and Camp Wainwright, and involves no disturbance whatver with the ex-isting condition of the old naval cemetery.

Today, it is announced by the Garment Workers' Trade Council, 31,000 garment workers will stop work, too. This is the first time that the cutters have co-operated in a strike with the men who merely sew. The strike is against the "open shop" policy which the New York Clothing Manufacturers' Association declared several months ago. The strikers are the tailors who work on "ready-to-wear" clothing, as the new style clothier calls it. The manufacturing season for the fall and winter trade is now in full swing.
